SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION INITIAL STEPS:

1. Step 1: Prior to 15JUL, login to the MICanada website and register for the Scholarship program using the Scholarship Registration page.
2. Once you have registered for the scholarship, you will be directed to complete the Part A self-test. You will have a maximum of 15 days from the date of registration to complete the Part A self-test. Please don't register for the scholarship until you are ready to complete the self-test, as the 15-day deadline for completion will not be extended. If completed the self-test prior to registering for the scholarship, you will be required to take it again. The first submission made after registering for the scholarship, will be considered a final submission. After registering for the scholarship, only one completion of the self-test is possible. The pass mark is 75%.
3. Upon completion of the self-test, you will receive your results and if successful, you will receive a further email within 72 hours, explaining how to proceed to Step 2 of the application process.
4. Step 2 requires completion of an online application form and submission of the supporting material outlined below. The online application and all supporting material must be submitted by 11:59pm on 31JUL. Late submissions will not be considered.
5. In the final review process, successful candidates may be asked to submit a cv or video response to a question posed by the MICanada Credentialling Scholarship Committee. Please see the "Review Process" section below for more details.

STEP 2: Supporting Information and Documents Required

Please have the following on hand and ready to submit before progressing to Step 2, the online application process. Deadline for submission is 11:59pm on 31JUL. Late submissions will not be accepted.

1. Personal Letter of Interest, outlining professional goals and highlighting educational accomplishments of note.
2. A letter of recommendation from professional colleague with direct experience working with, supervising or mentoring the candidate.
3. Part A Self-test score

REVIEW and SELECTION PROCESS:

- Step 1: Initial registration through MICanada website, followed by completion of the Part A self-test. Completion of the Part A Self-Test is the initial qualifying step to the application process. It is necessary to achieve a pass mark of 75% to move on to the next stage of the application process. The test is open book but only one attempt will be permitted, and the results of that attempt will determine if the applicant can proceed to the next stage of the application process.
- Step 2: Upon successful completion of the Part A self-test the applicant(s) will gain access to the online scholarship application. Supporting documents can be uploaded through the application portal.
- Step 3: Scholarship Committee application review, evaluation, and final grading
- Step 4: Final review and selection completed by the MICanada Board of Directors
- Step 5: Candidates will be informed of the status of their scholarship application.
- The decision of the committee is final. Reasons for the final candidate selection remain strictly confidential.
- Depending on the number or quality of applications received, the McKenzie Institute Canada reserves the right not to award any scholarships in any given year.

Important Deadlines:

- 15JUL is the deadline for completing Step 1, the online registration process and Part A self-test.
- 31JUL is the deadline for completing Step 2, the online application and document submission process.
- Upon completion of the scholarship review process and final approval of the MICanada Board of Directors, the successful candidate will be advised in writing by 30SEP of the given year.
